50,000-TON SHIP IS NOW IN SIGHT

Both Cunard Company and Hamburg-American Line Expected to Rival White Star Ships.

When the White Star line placed orders for the building of the 45,000-ton Leviathan, the Olympic and the Titanic, the former of which took the water recently, it was thought that as regards tonnage and length they would not be eclipsed for a few years to come. The decision as to whether they will hold that record for long, however, remains with the Cunard company.

For the last few months, ever since the last general meeting in fact, the word has been passed around in shipping circles and well informed quarters that a big Cunarder is in view by the directors. Although this rumor has been disclaimed over and over again by the officials and shipbuilders connected with the matter, the fact remains that a big ship is in contemplation.

Whether an idea of its dimensions can be inferred from the chairman's statement at the meeting of shareholders "that the future of the North Atlantic traffic rests with the combined passenger and cargo carrying steamer of 40,000 or 50,000 tons," or from dimensions rumored—tonnage 60,000, length 1000 feet—remains to be seen. Mr. Hunter, of the shipbuilding firm of Swan, Hunter & Wigham Richardson, which built the Franconia, the Cunard company's latest addition to its fleet, a man certainly well informed on the subject, stated recently that the proposed Cunarder would be larger than anything ever thought of if the company's intentions were fully carried out.

A gigantic vessel is also being built to the order of the Hamburg-American line. According to various statements from high quarters—no official news has been issued, and the exact dimensions and tonnage of the liner are a closely guarded secret—the length has been placed at anything from 900 to 940 feet and the tonnage from 50,000 upward.

EXPECT WIRELESS TO STOP CANNIBALS

Marconi Communication Will Modernize South Sea Islands. Australian Thinks.

MONTREAL, November 5.—Hon. Joseph Walker, member of the legislative council of New South Wales, who is here on his way from Australia to England, thinks that the introduction of wireless telegraphy is the principal enterprise on which the energies of the people of the southern hemisphere are concentrated at the present time.

By a convention which has been entered into between the governments of the Commonwealth of Australia and the Dominion of New Zealand, a wireless system will within a year carry messages over the waters of the southern ocean just as they now are sent over the Atlantic.

There are to be high-power stations at Sydney and at Christchurch, as well as at Fiji with others of moderate power between the groups of smaller islands of the southern archipelago. For the first time the smaller islands will be brought within the range of telegraphic communication, for, where the compass is so limited, the cost of laying ocean cables is far too great to warrant the undertaking. Wireless, however, is comparatively inexpensive. The new wireless installations, of the M. W. S. type, will also do much for the ease of humanity, as they will enable the means of supplying information among the islands of the South Seas, who are now cut off from the outside world, to be greatly improved.

KNOWN EVERYWHERE

It is well known that the White Star line has been the most successful of the world's shipping lines. It has been the most successful of the world's shipping lines. It has been the most successful of the world's shipping lines.

PATON SEES JOHNSON AND OLDFIELD RACE

Mike Paton didn't see any big action while he was in the East, but he enjoyed the thrill of seeing Barney Oldfield make a monkey out of Jack Johnson, as he put it, in their automobile race over the Sheepshead Bay track in Brooklyn, New York, on his visit. The world's champion pugilist, he said, had to slow down at every turn while Oldfield shot out toward the fence and rounded the curves at full tilt. The record-breaking speed artist, Mike explained, had his machine weighted on one side with tons of ballast so he could swing around without upsetting. Johnson is punishing the booze and will soon knock himself out, Paton said. He read Dahl Fahy's letter from Reno about Johnson going back on the frame up and Jeffries being sored for the slaughter last Fourth of July which was published in The Advertiser last Tuesday, and his comment was "That's the way I heard it."

Bill Lang and Tommy Burns had gone to England and there were none of the big fighters around when Mike was in the East, but he saw a few goes between the lesser lights. One of these was One Round Hogan and another Young Corbett. The latter was all in. Paton couldn't remember who the pug was that put it over Corbett, but he said Corbett's antagonist was no one of note.

Paton was a guest at a banquet given in honor of Willie Keller, who was the greatest shortstop in his day that base ball ever knew, and is now coach for the New York National League team. Mike chirped one or two of his plaintive ditties to the joy of the assembled guests and then Willie Keller was hoisted up on the table for his little speech. Paton said last night that Vic Hansen, who knocked out Jack Corbett, in twelve rounds at Maricopa, California, recently, used to be one of Al Kaufman's sparring partners and was pretty handy with the mitts. Paton didn't meet any of the local talent during his sojourn in the States, although he spent some time in Fresno on his way back here. The "Brooklyn Kid" arrived home alone on the steamer Sierra last Friday leaving his better half to spend the winter back in little old New York.

THINKS KAOO DID NOT PROPERLY TRAIN

Old Paddy Walsh, the veteran pedestrian, believes that with proper training Antone Kaoo could beat Soldier King over the full Marathon distance. He had the following to say on this and other athletic matters of local interest yesterday:

"There won't be much doing in pedestrianism, outside of the Kamao avenue walking race, until the beginning of the year when Kaoo and Soldier King will look up over the Marathon distance."

"I want to say right here that I am certain that the old native can beat King over the long route provided he is properly trained and cuts out his midnight running and other luluaba stunts."

"King has it on Kaoo at fifteen miles, though the latter has run fifteen miles to my certain knowledge in 1:35, which is a minute better than King made in the last race. King could have run much faster, however, had it been necessary for him to do so."

"Next to Kaoo the best long-distance runner in the Islands today is Harrier Graham, and if he sticks to the game he is likely to be the coming man in this way."
